John Rogers Value for people

John Rogers has been running and promoting local currencies for 20 years. He ran a Local Exchange Trading System (LETS) from 1993 to 2003. From 2003 to 2007, he directed the Wales Institute for Community Currencies at the University of Newport, supporting community development in ex-mining communities through time banks. He now offers consulting and training to local currency systems: www.valueforpeople.co.uk

John is co-author of "People Money - the Promise of Regional Currencies" with Margrit Kennedy and Bernard Lietaer, published by Triarchy Press in June 2012. He carried out interviews with 40 local currency organisers from around the world for the book.
